ABOUT THE IRF

The International Road Federation, established in Washington, D.C. in 1948, is a non-governmental, not-for-profit organization with the mission to encourage and promote development and maintenance of better, safer and more sustainable roads and road networks worldwide. Working together with its members and partners, the IRF promotes the social and economic benefits that flow from well-planned and environmentally-sound road transport networks; it helps put in place technological solutions and management practices that provide maximum economic and social returns from national road investments.

The IRF has a major role to play in all aspects of road policy and development worldwide:

- For governments and financial institutions, the IRF provides a wide base of expertise for planning road development strategy and policy.
- For its members, the IRF is a business network, a link to external institutions and agencies, such as the United Nations and the European Union, and a platform to communicate with and access government officials and decision makers.
- For the community of road professionals, including national road associations, advocacy groups, companies and institutions dedicated to the development of road infrastructure, the IRF provides support and knowledge.

Through the International Road Educational Foundation, the IRF awards grants to graduate engineers and other transportation professionals from around the world in support of full-time academic training. With this, the IRF actively supports future generations of industry leaders.

The International Road Federation also takes pride in honoring and recognizing road-industry projects demonstrating excellence and innovation in road development worldwide, via the Global Road Achievement Awards program. The competition, designed to elicit information on successful projects and programs from leading industry organizations, will draw attention to these leading projects and organizations, providing a road map for others to follow in continuously improving and advancing road development worldwide.

With a wide network spanning 116 countries across six continents, the IRF believes that it can make a difference by providing best practices and expert advice to face today's multifaceted world of transport.

CHAIRMAN'S MESSAGE

The scale and size of the infrastructure projects in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and the Gulf region as a whole, underscores the need for professionals in both public and private sector agencies to have the necessary project management skills to manage such large and significant projects. It is for this reason, that I have asked IRF to develop this training course as part of its yearly training offerings in the Kingdom. This training course will provide project managers from both the public and private sector with the tools to execute projects on-time and on-budget, while at the same time meeting the Kingdom's high quality standards. Delegates will learn and understand the importance of good project management practices from the conception and planning to stages to the handover of projects.

It is my pleasure to invite you to attend this excellent training program that is both timely and relevant for the region.

Eng. Abdullah A. Al-Mogbel

Minister of Transport, Kingdom of Saudi Arabia

ABOUT IRF CERTIFIED WORKSHOPS

IRF Certified Workshops provide a unique forum for sharing the latest industry technologies, solutions and best practices from all over the world. Delegates will exchange knowledge and take it back to their respective countries for the benefit of their industry and societies.

Roads play a vital role in the economic development of all nations. It is a well-established fact that a poor road network hampers economic and social progress; therefore, in these challenging times, investments in the road sector can benefit the whole of society by providing access to markets, jobs, education, healthcare and other services, by lowering the cost of moving goods, and by saving lives and avoiding injuries in unnecessary accidents.

I am honored by your participation in this cutting edge IRF Certified Workshop!

C. Patrick Sankey
