Online Training

Project Finance Foundations

May 12 – June 4, 2020

Online Workshop (Limited to 10 Participants)

Background

This on-line workshop will provide a basic overview of project finance theory and a technical review of some of the basic techniques used for the delivery and management of transportation infrastructure projects. Delegates will explore project financial modelling and the inputs and risk associated with such models. The course leans toward the public or owner view although all stakeholder perspectives are incorporated into the course material. The course is ideal for delegates that are new to project finance and PPPs.

Upon completion of the program, the IRF will administer a proctored on-line test. Participants with a score of 70% of the exam will be awarded with a certificate verifying their successful completion of the course.

Why Online?

Each registrant will need his/her own computer to participate in the sessions. You will have access to curriculum and lectures developed by the IRF experts who teach workshops at IRF's brick and mortar training sites. The lectures will be taught over a 4 week period with live 1 hour on-line sessions held on Tuesdays & Thursdays each week. As an on-line participant, you will share experiences with many of your peers from around the world and have opportunities to interact through chats, and group projects.

Learning Objectives
